The Bishop's Weekly Chat With You.

My dear flock:—
Our pilgrimage party left on S. S. Olympic, of the White Star Line, on Friday evening, April 19, for Cherbourg, France, whence we left almost at once for Lisieux, the Shrine of the Little Flower, or of Sister Therese, of the Child Jesus.

We began our Novena with Mass and Holy Communion at the Church of St. John the Baptist, opposite the Pennsylvania station, New York City, and remembered you and your intentions.

It was the First Friday of April. Our small party was composed of the following members:

Very Rev. Chas. D. Wood, Charleston, S. C.
Rev. Arthur J. Luckey, Manhattan, Kansas.
Rev. J. H. Gleason, Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Senora Gorman, Fort Wayne.

Miss Rachel Blume, Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Elizabeth Zoeller, Fort Wayne.

Miss A. C. Gocke, Fort Wayne.

Miss Catherine Noll, Fort Wayne.

Miss Muriel Noll, Huntington.

Mrs. Wm. F. Toher, Oneida, N. Y.

Mrs. Wm. Toher, Oneida, N. Y.

Miss Katherine Gaegler, Washington, D. C.

The Bishop.

Mr. Joseph D. Tracy, conductor of the party.

Provision was made on the boat for the celebration of the Holy Sacrifice every morning, and Novena prayers were said every day.

Two other priests were aboard, though not with our party; hence the faithful had abundant opportunity to attend Mass and receive Holy Communion, especially on Sunday when all the priests celebrated Mass beginning at 6:30 and ending at 9:30.

We had a professional Mass-server, a young married man by name of Dwyer, whose home is at Southampton, the east terminal of the White Star line. He has been with the Olympic for seven years, and served 296 priests and bishops last year. He possesses a first-class relic of the Little Flower, presented to him by the Holy Father; he has the privilege of handling the chalice and soiled purificators. He has had his name on the quota for admission into the United States ever since 1926. He does not like the sea life because it keeps him from his family 26 out of 30 days of the month. Mr. Dwyer will be grateful for a "job" when he does move to America. He has served an apprenticeship for an engineer, but claims that he could not earn more than $10.00 a week in England. On the boat he serves in the capacity of Librarian to second-class passengers.

We left New York through a thick fog, which remained with us for thirty-six hours, causing a reduction in the normal speed of the boat by one-half, and the blowing of the whistle too frequently to allow of steady sleep. Owing to this fog the S. S. Paris, which left New York at the same hour as our ship, ran into sand, which held it near port for two days.

Some of our party were poor sailors, having contracted slight mal de mer, though the sea was never really rough. The person least affected was the oldest member of our party, Mrs. Senora Gorman, of Fort Wayne, who is a well-seasoned passenger. This is her first trip to Europe, but she has visited Central America and Panama and has wintered in California fifteen times.

We had very little sunshine during our voyage, but plenty of rain, wind and cold.

Anti-Catholic Loses Suit To Prevent Broadcast Of H. N. Breakfast

Held Legal By Supreme Court Justice

The suit of Franklin Ford, anti-Catholic agitator, brought before the New York Supreme Court to prevent the broadcast of a Holy Name breakfast being sent over the municipally owned and controlled radio station WNYC was dismissed by Justice Ingraham.

The occasion arousing the controversy was the projected broadcast last Sunday of the breakfast of the Holy Name Society of the New York fire department. Proceedings of other Catholic and non-Catholic meetings have been broadcast in the past, but Ford sought an injunction against the officials of the station on the ground that the broadcast of the Holy Name Society breakfast would be a violation of the laws against separation of church and state and the propagation of Catholic doctrine. It was dismissed because the complaint did not show that Ford was a taxpayer or that property of the city was being damaged by the broadcast. Since the suit was made under the General Municipal law these conditions were necessary, the Justice held. Corporation Counsel William E. C. Meyer stated that the broadcast was simply to enable city employees who could not attend to hear the proceedings. He also pointed out that the municipal station broadcast more Protestant and Jewish news and events than Catholic.

Two other priests were aboard, though not with our party; hence the faithful had abundant opportunity to attend Mass and receive Holy Communion, especially on Sunday when all the priests celebrated Mass beginning at 6:30 and ending at 9:30.

VERY REV. JOHN CAVANAUGH ORDAINED 35 YEARS

Eminent Holy Cross Educator at Notre Dame Receives Many Felicitations.

Thirty-five years ago last Sunday, April 21, the Very Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., former president of the University of Notre Dame, was ordained a priest in the Congregation of Holy Cross. His anniversary during the past week was the occasion of many congratulatory messages and was made the occasion of special recognition in the Universal Notre Dame night observance on Monday.

Father Cavanaugh, the son of Patrick and Elizabeth (O'Connor) Cavanaugh, was born in Leeton, O., May 21, 1870. He received the degree of Bachelor of Literature at the University of Notre Dame in 1890. He was ordained priest April 21, 1894. His offices included: associate editor of the Ave Maria, superior of Holy Cross Seminary, professor of English literature, president of the University of Notre Dame, professor of special English, Holy Cross College, Brookland, D. C., professor of English, University of Notre Dame. He received the degree of D. D. from the University of Ottawa, and LL.D. from Notre Dame. He is the author of numerous books and brochures and contributes extensively to magazines.

The South Bend News-Times, editorially, on Sunday, April 21, paid the following tribute to the eminent priest:

"Thirty-five years a priest, the Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., former president of the University of Notre Dame, is receiving the felicitations of his friends on the length of his days and the happiness and usefulness of his life.

"To know Father Cavanaugh is to love him. Men of his rare spirit take the American system of harmony and peace among those of varying creeds out of the realm of theory and make it a fact. And not only does Father Cavanaugh count many Protestants among his friends and admirers; he also exemplifies the ideal of his Master by his willingness to associate with publicans and sinners.

"Probably the thing said oftentimes about Father Cavanaugh locally is that he has done much to bring the University community and the city closer. That is a contribution to both city and university. Both institutions, one religious, and the other civic, owe him much for that great work.

"But Father Cavanaugh's most important attribute is his capacity for being kind, for being thoughtful, for being generous, for being affectionate, for being a warm human friend to men and women who need him. They delight to share their joys with him; they are quick to take their troubles to him.

"As an educator, as an authority on English, a master of the written and spoken word, Father Cavanaugh is one of the most important men of the Roman Catholic school system. But he bursts the walls of the classroom; he gets outside the boundaries of the University.

"He belongs to all of us. We love him. May he live forever!"

900 Masses Said For Parishioners Who Died In War

London.—After the war was the late Canon Storey, who was then pastor of the church of Brook Green, London, made a promise that 1,000 Masses would be said in the church for the repose of the souls of men of the parish who lost their lives in the fighting.

So far 900 Masses have been said. When the thousandth Mass is reached a tablet bearing the names of the parish's war dead will be unveiled in the church.

The chapel is situated near the Canal, and on its summit has been placed a large statue of the Blessed Virgin, Star of the Sea, and protector of seafarers.

SONS OF NOTRE DAME EULOGIZE ALMA MATER

Universal Night Celebration Marked by Banquets, Radio Programs

Observance of the sixth annual Universal Notre Dame Night, Monday, April 22, was one of the greatest in the history of the University. Over 50 Notre Dame clubs throughout the United States, South America and France notified the Alumni office at the University of their plans, all joining in celebrations last Monday night. Their programs included speeches, banquets and radio hook-ups to broadcast speeches, instrumental numbers and Notre Dame songs.

This celebration is unique and unprecedented in its field. James E. Armstrong, general secretary of the Notre Dame Alumni association, has contributed much to building up the nation-wide observance and especially has been responsible for the wide broadcast the affair was given Monday night through participation of the radio. It is estimated that over 5,000 took part in the celebration.

New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Denver, Cincinnati, Louisville, Toledo, Cleveland, Nashville, Newark, N. J., Salt Lake City, Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Notre Dame, Tulsa, Okla.; Butte, Mont., and other centers were particularly active. The radio was enlisted to greater extent than ever before. While no national hookup was undertaken because of the difference of time and conditions, more than a score of stations from coast to coast gave Notre Dame the air as often during the night as program arrangements permitted.

Notre Dame Program
The Notre Dame Alumni clubs of the St. Joseph valley united at Notre Dame Monday night in the most notable celebration of its kind ever held there. On this occasion three of the greatest figures in the scholastic and athletic life of the University, the Very Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, C. S. C., president; the Very Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., past president; and Knute K. Rockne, director of athletics and football coach, were the principal speakers. Coach Rockne presided as toastmaster. The festivity in the dining hall, Notre Dame, at 6:30 o'clock Monday night was the center of a national celebration extending into half the states of the country and engaging the facilities of clubs and hotels in more than 50 cities of the United States. Universal Notre Dame night is regarded authoritatively as the biggest alumni fete in the country. No other major university has employed such extensive means to keep the alumni of a school banded together though many years may separate old graduates from campus scenes.

Father O'Donnell, University president, distinguished as a poet and scholar before his elevation to the highest administration post, took advantage of the occasion to deliver his annual message to the alumni and discuss the present place of the University in the front rank of American educational institutions.

Incident to the night's observance was Father Cavanaugh's thirty-fifth anniversary of ordination to the priesthood in the Congregation of Holy Cross. His address on the program was "Thirty-five Years in Retrospect," encompassing his own distinguished career as a scholar, educator and orator.

Celebrants were drawn not alone from South Bend and Mishawaka, but Elkhart, Goshen, Laporte, Plymouth, Michigan City, Ind.; Benton Harbor, St. Joseph and Niles, Mich. Musical numbers and songs occupied a large part of the program. Joseph J. Casanova, C. S. C., past president and Knute K. Rockne, director of athletics and football coach, were the principal speakers. Coach Rockne presided as toastmaster. CHURCH ATTENDANCE INCREASE IN 1928 IS PLACED AT 1,115,000

New York.—The annual statistical analysis published recently by the Christian Herald shows that the Churches of the United States gained 1,115,000 communicants during 1928, almost double the increase in 1927, which was 573,000.

The total number of church members, according to the analysis, was 49,709,850 at the close of 1928. The number of clergymen was placed at 222,202 and the number of church edifices at 238,371.

The Christian Herald gives the greatest denominational gain to the Baptist Church, with 375,842 new members, and puts the Catholic Church second with an increase of 360,153. In 1927 the Methodist Church, with its sixteen bodies, was recorded as one of the largest gainers, whereas last year it increased by only 45,145 members, dropping off more than 100,000 and sliding to fifth place.

According to the report of the Christian Herald, the Catholic Church still is by far the largest denomination in the country with 17,214,844 members, not including children. The Methodists are next with 9,164,720 and the Baptists close third with 9,009,449.

FATHER SHERIDAN'S DRAMATIC PRODUCTION BRILLIANT SUCCESS

"The Call," written and directed by the Rev. Francis Sheridan, will again be presented by the Community Center Players in the Catholic Community Center this evening, Sunday, April 28, and Wednesday night, May 1, at 8:15 o'clock. Capacity audiences have already seen the play in matinee, Sunday, April 21, and at night, Sunday, April 22.

"The Call" is an interesting play, unusual in many ways. It has a strong plot which becomes notably moving in the last act, with the result that hardly a feminine eye is dry and many masculine eyes are also dimmed with tears before the final fall of the curtain. Relief to the tension of the plot is furnished by a number of musical selections, which Father Sheridan has interjected into the story.

The cast presenting the play is in almost every way all that could be desired and much more than might be expected. Dan Flanagan as young Lakin is a bit stiff during the first part of the play, but when he is called upon to show emotion, he takes every one with him. John Schulteis, as the father, is a former professional actor, and acts his part without a flaw. He is probably the most finished actor in the piece. Elmer Jockel as Father Nolan does another masterful job, and Miss Cleopha Butler as Sister Felicitas is convincing also.

For the most part, the other parts are also played well. The humor element is furnished by Gregory Kennerk and Miss Loretta Martin. Kennerk also is called upon to show some real acting in the last act and does this mightily well. The humor is good, and Kennerk and Miss Martin play the parts for all in them.

The story is that of a boy who wants to become a priest, but who is turned from his calling by a stern non-Catholic father.

The treatment throughout is admirably restrained, frank and vigorous, without being pietistic.

Father of Educator Dies in Sandusky, O.

Brother Harold, Principal C. C. High School, Fort Wayne, Returns From Funeral.

Joseph Grindel, 58, father of Brother Harold, C. S. C., principal of Central Catholic high school, Fort Wayne, died at 3:00 o'clock Sunday morning at the Catholic hospital in Sandusky, O., where he had been a patient four weeks. Death was due to enlargement of the heart and followed a series of attacks which left little hope of his recovery. Brother Harold, accompanied by Brother Finbar, C. S. C., of the high school faculty, spent Saturday in Sandusky visiting the patient and owing to the seriousness of his condition decided to remain the city over night. Early Sunday morning they were summoned to his bedside, the end coming peacefully.

Deceased is survived by two sons, Brother Harold of the Congregation of Holy Cross, Notre Dame, stationed in Fort Wayne, and Nelson Grindel of Sandusky. His wife preceded him in death twenty-six years ago. He was a devoted member of St. Mary's church, the Holy Name Society, and Sacred Heart League, Sandusky. The funeral was held there from St. Mary's church Wednesday morning at 9:00 o'clock. Brother Finbar, C. S. C., Fort Wayne, left Tuesday afternoon to attend the funeral. He was accompanied by Howard Steckbeck and Edward Taucy, seniors, who represented the student body. The sympathy of many friends is extended Brother Harold in his deep bereavement.

Tripped Again

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, once a writer of good detective stories but now a student of psychology, has been tripped up again. At a recent lecture he exhibited what he thought was a "spirit photograph." It happened that the person whose face appeared on the photo was in the audience. He hastened to inform Sir Arthur of his error.

Two Books Your Children Will Welcome.

By the Diocesan Editor

If you have young friends who are inclined to find manners difficult, by all means make them a present of the "Courtesy Book" by Nancy Dunlea. Incidentally, parents and others who come in contact with children might ponder a sentence in the forward to this attractive little volume—"Good manners ought to be taught to home, and are the more easily inculcated by force of example." The remainder of the book is in child language, not too childish for the eighth grader nor too complicated for the fourth or fifth year student. Quaint black and white drawings head each chapter. In its delicate blue cover this little volume will be welcomed by any child. It is published by the Bockler-Cardy Co., Chicago.

When "My Mass Book," published by the Macmillan Co., came to me I was, and still am, uncertain whether the authors or the publishers were deserving of greater commendation. The book is designed for children up to the fourth or fifth grade and the text has that delightful clearness and simplicity that make the Mass, properly understood, such a never ending source of spiritual happiness to the Catholic. If you wish your son or daughter or child-friend to realize early what a wonderful thing the Mass is, give him this beautiful book. It has a colored illustration on nearly every page. The publishers have done a wonderful job of color printing. Thirty-two half-page illustrations in color depict the different parts of the Mass. In addition there are many other full page color reproductions of beautiful and familiar scenes from Christ's life. The book is bound in pure white with a gold embossed title. The text is by the Sisters Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary.

Reviews Cadets Before Taking Up New Duties

SUNDAY'S LITURGY

April 21: The Third Sunday after Easter.

BY THE REV. JOSEPH L. LORD.

(Prepared for the N. C. W. C. News Service by the Liturgical Press: Collegeville, Minnesota.)

The Church on this Sunday rejoices in her Risen Spouse. She commands all the earth to shout with joy to God. The Lord is risen, and we who have risen with Him must give glory to His praise. But the glory we give to the Risen Christ must be expressed in the actions of our life. We must show forth in our works the glory and sanctity of the Risen Christ.

Our calling is sublime. We are members of Christ's Mystical Body "Flesh of His flesh, bone of His bone." So our lives must be holy. Therefore we pray to Him who doth show the light of Truth unto us, that He may grant to us and to all who have received the same baptism as ourselves, the grace to act in accordance with its teaching. But since our calling is such because our dignity as members of Christ's Body is so great, we must expect persecution. For we are but pilgrims and strangers here. Through suffering and love we will finally attain truth and holiness in Christ, and then our triumph over the world will be assured.

But the reign of God is not established quickly. St. Peter warns us in the epistle: "Be subject, therefore, to every human creature for God's sake—for so is the will of God that by doing well you may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men—for this is thankworthy before God in Christ Jesus." The Christian lives in expectation. If then we belong to God it is our duty to live for Him. "It behooved Christ to suffer and to rise again from the dead and so to enter into His Glory." If the Son of God submitted to this law, how much the more shall we not be bound thereby, who aspire to attain to a glory which is not ours but His?

In the Gospel our divine Saviour, taking leave of His disciples, seeks to prepare them for the separation. We also may take heart from His words, for our faith, by which we live, will be put to many trials before we reach our eternal Home.

To us He says: "You now indeed have sorrow but I will see you again and your heart shall rejoice and your joy no man shall take from you." Let our hearts therefore be filled with a holy love of heavenly things. And as we are nourished by the quickening food of the holy Eucharist, let us look forward to the blessed hope when we shall rejoice in our Saviour forever.
